

DEDICATED TO HELPING BUSINESS ACHIEVE ITS HIGHEST GOALS.

CROSSING THE ATLANTIC WAS EASY
COMPARED TO NAVIGATING CONGRESS.

When "Lucky" Lindy made his transatlantic crossing, he didn't have to deal with an ocean of congressional wrangling (maybe that's why they called him "Lucky"). The prevailing winds blew in his favor. But today, those winds have changed. Flying for business is more scrutinized than ever. Luckily, there's NBAA. We've made a home on the Hill, so that our members can make a living in the sky. Because business aviation enables economic growth. And at NBAA, we enable business aviation.
