

NBAA MENTORING NETWORK

Once the formal mentoring relationship has concluded, you may find yourself wondering what's next. You can help NBAA improve the mentoring program, continue to grow, and begin to give back by signing up to mentor or by hosting an intern at your company.

NEXT STEPS

ANSWER THE NBAA SURVEY

In the weeks after the program concludes, you'll receive a survey asking about your mentoring experience. Your feedback can make a difference for future mentors and mentees. NBAA will use your responses to improve the program to help future mentees maximize their experience.

BECOME A MENTOR

The mentoring process provides an opportunity to give back to the business aviation industry and directly contribute to the success of another individual. Experienced mentors will continue to strengthen the overall mentoring program, but we need mentees, like you, to join and help build the program.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

NBAA's Professional Development Program (PDP) helps business aviation professionals ascend in their careers by preparing them for management roles within their companies. These programs are made available through educational institutions and courses hosted at NBAA's industry events. The PDP website provides the latest information and schedule.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND CONFERENCES

NBAA committees have developed formal scholarship and internship programs to aid business aviation professionals. A variety of scholarship opportunities are available to assist in professional development, training, and financial costs of attending NBAA conferences. You can learn more about scholarships and conferences by visiting their respective websites.
